Your Information Resource for Poison Ivy, Oak and Sumac

Volume 6, Issue 4

Welcome to the Zanafel Zone! We hope you had a wonderful summer! As always, Zanafel is here to provide you with important information on plant identification, prevention, and treatment to help get you safely through this season.

Poison Ivy, Oak & Sumac Exposure Season Continues

Labor Day weekend marked the end of “peak” poison ivy, oak, and sumac exposure season. Now that the unofficial end of summer has passed, many people think poison ivy season is over. This is not true! Fall is a great time for camping, hiking, vacations, and yard work. These outdoor activities are all opportunities to tangle with poison ivy, oak, and sumac.

Please contact us if you have questions about Zanafel Poison Ivy, Oak & Sumac Wash, or about poison ivy in general.

If you, or a family member breaks out with a poison ivy, oak, or sumac rash, Zanafel can be found in the first aid section of your local pharmacies.

Poison Ivy's Fall Colors

One of the early signs of fall is the turning of poison ivy leaves from green to yellow, and then to a bright red. Poison ivy is usually one of the very first plants to have its leaves change in the fall. You'll look out into the woods and everything will be green, except for the bright yellow or red leaves on a climbing poison ivy vine.

Dan's Big Pumpkin

This year Zanafel's Customer Service Manager, Dan Boelman, and his family grew a really huge pumpkin! It weighed 829 Pounds, and won 3rd Place at the Iowa State Fair Giant Pumpkin Contest. Dan and his family are looking forward to growing another giant pumpkin next year.
